Licensing & Technology

The development and licensing of patents, trademarks, copyright and trade secrets is a critical component of our intellectual property experience. We have developed licensing strategies for clients in the pharmaceutical, entertainment, computer, automotive industries to protect assets and to maximize their intellectual property.

We have extensive experience preparing joint development, production, technology licensing and outsourcing agreements. Our attorneys have also counseled on and litigated Internet security issues. We have advised on issues related to doing global business on the Internet.
