Real Estate Litigation

Butzel attorneys bring knowledge and experience in real estate transactions to the courtroom when litigating the broad range of issues that confront the real estate industry. Our real estate litigation attorneys have experience representing buyers, sellers, agents, brokers, governments, owners, developers, lenders, landlords, tenants, investors, contractors and title insurance companies and their insureds in a wide variety of real property litigation matters, including mortgage and tax foreclosures, eminent domain, construction liens, title insurance claims, boundary and easement disputes, brokerage commission disputes, and specific performance of purchase agreements. We understand that resolving disputes in a practical and timely manner is important in the real estate industry, where real estate transactions typically occur within a short time frame. For that reason, our real estate litigation attorneys strive to provide our clients with quick and decisive resolutions.
