

DANIEL G. VIVARELLI, JR.

SHAREHOLDER

Washington
202 454 2841
vivarelli@butzel.com

Clients have come to depend on Daniel Vivarelli for his deep experience when they require counsel or representation pertaining to intellectual property matters. For more than two decades, Mr. Vivarelli has focused his practice on litigation, licensing, prosecution, and counseling in a variety of intellectual property-related matters. He has served as trial and lead counsel on matters pending in courts at all levels throughout the United States, resulting in favorable verdicts and settlements for his clients.

Daniel Vivarelli is a Shareholder based in Butzel's Washington, D.C. office. Mr. Vivarelli's practice focuses on intellectual property, including trade secret and patent litigation, intellectual property licensing, and patent prosecution and counseling.

Mr. Vivarelli represents clients in high-stakes patent, trade secrets, and trademark litigation. He has served as trial counsel in several software-related trade secrets and patent matters and has also been lead counsel in numerous Patent Office proceedings.

Mr. Vivarelli also advises business teams on IP-related transaction provisions in various types of agreements; manages client IP portfolios and supervises outside patent prosecution counsel; performs invention mining and evaluation to support new product launches; and supports business needs for creative licensing of IP, patent enforcement, and new business opportunities.

Mr. Vivarelli is admitted to the US District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, the US Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, and the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Primary Practice Areas

Intellectual Property

All Related Practice Areas

Automotive Industry Team

Connected Car and Autonomous Vehicles

Copyright

Intellectual Property

Licensing & Technology

Litigation and Dispute
Resolution

Non-Compete & Trade Secret

Patent Law

Trade Secrets Theft

Trademark Law

White Collar Criminal Defense

DANIEL G. VIVARELLI, JR.

Speaking Engagements:

- Speaker, Employee Mobility Shouldn't Mean Trade Secret Mobility, March 18, 2020

Published Works:

- Author, Your Confidential Business Information Was Published. Can It Still Be a Trade Secret?, Intellectual Property and Technology Law Journal, May 2022
- Co-author, INSIGHT: Overcoming Patent Subject Matter Eligibility Rejections, Bloomberg Law, May 13, 2020
- Co-author, 2014 Patent Damages Year In Review, 2015
- Co-author, 2013 Patent Damages Year In Review, 2014
- Forum Selection Clauses: Are You Sure That Is What You Want? February 10, 2022
- Your Confidential Business Information Was Published. Can It Still Be A Trade Secret? February 8, 2022
- Keeping Your Trade Secrets "Secret" During a Time of Increased Remote Work Due to COVID-19, March 24, 2020
- Marking Your Territory in the Patent World: The Basics of Physical vs. Virtual Patent Marking, January 30, 2018
- Federal Circuit Gives Challengers Another Tool To Invalidate Software-Based Inventions, June 18, 2015
- Federal Circuit Addresses Key Damages Issues in Vacating $386 Million Patent Verdict, September 18, 2014
- Supreme Court Strikes Down Alice Corporation's Computer-Implemented Business Methods and Systems as Patent Ineligible, June 20, 2014
- Eastern District of Texas Adopts Model Order Aimed at Reducing Cost of Patent Litigation, November 25, 2013
- Federal Circuit Reminds Us That IP Assignments In Employee Agreements Are Important, August 1, 2012
- Five Things You Should Know About The Replacement of Inter Partes Reexamination with Inter Partes Review on September 16, 2012, July 26, 2012
- Federal Circuit Turns Back the Clock on Patent Eligibility, October 31, 2008

Credentials

EDUCATION

DANIEL G. VIVARELLI, JR.

George Mason University Antonin Scalia Law School (J.D., 2002)

Wake Forest University (B.S., cum laude, Computer Science, 1999)

ADMISSIONS

District of Columbia

United States Patent and Trademark Office

Awards & Recognitions

Legal 500, Recommended for Patent: Litigation (Full Coverage), 2020

Super Lawyers, "Rising Star", Intellectual Property Litigation, 2013–2018