Butzel Long Future Leaders Club – Into the Social Media Woods

Bloomfield Hills, MI
1.28.2015

A good social media strategy encompasses the art of storytelling, the savvy of technology and the avoidance of pitfalls. The major social media platforms can let a brand soar and establish individuals as influencers. At the same time, the threat of a negative reputation going viral lurks like a wolf in the shadows. As young professionals, it's important to ask the questions on how to develop a positive brand image while avoiding legal and publicity concerns. Some of the tips may be magical, so join us for a lively panel discussion as we go "Into the Social Media Woods" and provide insights for success while avoiding giant failures.
