Although attorney Bernie Fuhs has handled some high profile cases, his most rewarding triumph was helping a close friend in a landlord/tenant dispute.

"My friend was in the early stages of starting what is now one of the most successful youth soccer training academies in the country," Fuhs explains. "Despite no legal or contractual basis, the landlord, blinded by dollar signs, tried to wage economic warfare against him in an effort to kick him out of the property where he was training his kids, and bring in a new tenant who would pay more money."
