

IN THE NEWS

Butzel Long attorney Paul Mersino's guest article appears in Crain's Detroit Business

6.24.2020

"Litigating the Coronavirus: What Businesses Need to Fight Over in Pandemic's Wake"

As the stay-home orders are rescinded and restrictions are eased across Michigan, businesses are slowly opening their doors, getting to work, and ramping up. But with any cataclysmic event comes disruption. And with disruption often comes litigation.

Click here to read the complete article in Crain's Detroit (subscription required).

Related Services

Business & Commercial
Litigation

Litigation and Dispute
Resolution