

IN THE NEWS

Butzel Long attorney Sheldon Klein quoted in The Detroit News article "Michigan manufacturing expected to be especially hard hit by coronavirus"

The Detroit News
2.28.2020

Detroit — The coronavirus will disrupt U.S. manufacturing, and when it does it will hit Michigan harder than most states, experts say.

Michigan's manufacturing roots — with 14.2% of employment based in manufacturing compared to 8.5% nationally — will leave it more exposed to the potential for production slowdowns and layoffs from the virus' impact on supply chains. Businesses are working to mitigate the risk to their overall business and bottom lines.

Click here to read the complete article in The Detroit News.

Related Services

Automotive Industry Team

Supply Chain Management