

IN THE NEWS

Butzel Long attorneys Justin Klimko and Dick Rassel discuss future of Detroit in the Detroit Free Press

1.11.2015

Leaders of old Detroit law firm ebullient about region

Butzel Long, a 160-year-old law firm in Detroit, has long had ties to the auto industry — and attorneys, who have had prominent roles in business and politics.

"We're always going to need lawyers," said Justin Klimko, the firm's president. "Any society that has rules is going to need someone to interpret those rules."

Click here to read the complete article in the Detroit Free Press.

Related People

Justin G. Klimko
Shareholder

Richard E. Rassel
Shareholder