FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DETROIT, Mich. – Butzel Long attorneys were featured recently during a seminar presented by the Detroit Chinese Business Association (DCBA) on December 3 in Novi. The program was entitled, "Creating Success in the Restructured Economy: Business and Legal Strategies."

Attorneys from Butzel Long's China Practice discussed practical and proactive legal measures relevant to meeting the unique challenges and opportunities in the current economy. The program featured Butzel Long attorneys Shusheng Wang, Sean Cook, James Bruno and Richard Manczak. Butzel Long attorney C. Peter Theut served as moderator. Jennifer Feng Smith of Butzel Long's China Practice helped plan the program.

Butzel Long has been assisting companies from North America, Europe and Asia in establishing and expanding business operations in China for over 20 years. Building on its strong Asian Practice in North America and its close proximity to the United States automotive industry, Butzel Long attorneys have worked with numerous clients in the automotive and other industries from the United States and in China to assist with China investment.
