DETROIT, Mich. – Butzel immigration law attorney Reginald A. Pacis, has been invited by his alma mater, James Madison College at Michigan State University, to participate in an “Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders (AAPI) in the Workplace” panel program on Tuesday, January 25, 2022.

The (virtual) event is part of a multi-day program titled, “Identity in the Workplace,” designed to provide a platform for students and staff to hear from alumni about the challenges and triumphs that individuals with a range of identities have experienced across their careers as well as the positive work they are doing for diversity in the workplace.

Pacis focuses his practice in immigration law and has handled a variety of immigration matters including H-1B specialty occupation cases, L-1 Intracompany transfers, Labor Certification matters, Immigrant Visa Petitions/Adjustment of Status applications and interviews, TN Free trade cases, H-1B Department of Labor Investigations, I-9 employer verification compliance, and U.S. Port of Entry airport and land port interviews.

In 2021, Pacis was appointed a trustee to the Michigan Asian Pacific American Affairs Commission (MAPAAC), which helps address the needs and concerns of the Asian Pacific American (APA) communities in Michigan. Previously, he was a commissioner to the MAPAAC.

Pacis was named Immigration Lawyer of the Year 2013 in the field of Immigration Law by The Best Lawyers in America and has been listed in Best Lawyers for several years.
