Let's get straight to the point. I know that [REDACTED] is your password. Moreover, I know about your secret and I have proof of this. You do not know me personally and nobody paid me to examine you.

It's just your misfortune that I discovered your misdemeanor. Let me tell you, I placed a malware on the adult videos (sex sites) and you visited this site to experience fun (you know what I mean). When you were busy watching videos, your internet browser initiated functioning as a Rdp (Remote desktop) that has a keylogger which provided me accessibility to your display as well as webcam. Just after that, my software obtained all of your contacts from messenger, social networks, and mailbox.

After that I gave in more time than I probably should have investigating into your life and created a double-screen video. First part shows the recording you were watching and other part displays the view of your cam (its you doing dirty things).

Honestly, I'm ready to forget all information about you and let you move on with your daily life. And I am about to offer you two options that can accomplish that. The two option is to either ignore this letter, or simply just pay me $7000. Let us investigate these 2 options in details.

Option One is to ignore this message. Let us see what is going to happen if you choose this option. I will definitely send your video recording to all of your contacts including members of your family, coworkers, and many others. It won't help you avoid the humiliation you and your family will have to face when family and friends find out your unpleasant videos from me.

Option 2 is to make the payment of $7000. We'll name this my "confidentiality tip". Let me tell you what will happen if you opt this option. Your secret remains your secret. I'll delete the video immediately. You move on with your routine life as if nothing ever happened.

At this point you may be thinking, "I should call the cops". Let me tell you, I've covered my steps in order that this e-mail can't be traced back to me also it won't prevent the evidence from destroying your life. I'm not planning to dig a hole in your pocket. I just want to be compensated for my time I put into investigating you. Let's assume you have decided to create all of this vanish entirely and pay me my confidentiality fee. You will make the payment via Bitcoin (if you do not know how, search "how to buy bitcoins" on google search)

Amount to be sent: $7000
Receiving Bitcoin Address: [REDACTED] (Edit *
from this string then copy and paste it)

Expalin no person what will you be using the Bitcoins for or they possibly will not offer it to you. The task to acquire bitcoins can take a short time so do not procrastinate.

I've a specific pixel within this message, and now I know that you have read through this message. You now have 24 hours to make the payment. If I don't get the Bitcoins, I will send out your video recording to your entire contacts including members of your family, colleagues, and many others. You better come up with an excuse for friends and family before they find out. Having said that, if I do get paid, I'll destroy the video immediately. It is a non-negotiable one time offer, thus please do not ruin my time and yours. Your time has started. Well, my tracker will still be keeping tracking of what action you take after you're done reading this message. You should know If you google anything that you should not then I will have to send your videotape to your relatives, coworkers even before your your deadline.
