Jesse Sisson-Manning represents businesses and individuals in complex commercial litigation and insurance-related disputes. He handles matters involving contracts, regulatory compliance, and coverage claims, guiding clients through legal risks while advocating effectively in court.

Prior to joining Hinshaw, Jesse served as a law clerk with the Rhode Island Superior Court Law Clerk Department, working closely with the State's Superior Court Judges on a wide range of civil litigation matters.

During law school, Jesse was vice president of the International Law Society and a teaching assistant for the school's Legal Writing courses.
