Ofonedu-Ime Goodwyn is a Florida Bar Board Certified Real Estate Attorney with a reputation for delivering exceptional work product and providing responsive, high-quality client service. His practice focuses on real estate and commercial transactions, including corporate matters, secured lending transactions, and the acquisition, disposition, development, and leasing of real property. Ofonedu regularly represents closely-held companies, national and regional lenders, and a diverse range of borrowers and developers in a variety of commercial matters.

As part of a Columbia Law School Human Rights fellowship, Ofonedu served as a summer research intern with the Lawyer's Collective HIV/AIDS Unit in Mumbai, India, and developed an ongoing interest in social impact work and a deep admiration for attorneys who serve as change agents.

Prior to moving to South Florida, Ofonedu returned to his alma mater, George School, a Quaker college preparatory school in Newtown, Pennsylvania, to give back to his community by teaching and mentoring the next generation of young leaders. Ofonedu is board chair of Neighborhood Housing Services of South Florida (NHSSF), a local community development organization founded over 40 years ago, providing a full spectrum of homeownership services to potential homebuyers. NHSSF is actively working to address South Florida's affordable housing crisis.
