Spencer Kook is an insurance regulatory and commercial litigation attorney. He regularly advises carriers, producers, and other regulated entities on issues of insurance regulatory compliance, including but not limited to licensing, rating, underwriting, and forms. Spencer also regularly assists clients in connection with examinations and enforcement actions. Additionally, he manages a wide variety of insurance litigation and business dispute matters and has a long-established track record of defending clients against class and representative actions, and challenges brought under California's Unfair Competition Law and false advertising laws.

Spencer is the Partner-in-Charge of Hinshaw's Los Angeles office and serves on Hinshaw's Management Committee, the firm's principal governing body. He also served on the firm's Executive Committee and Diversity Committee and previously co-led the firm's Insurance Regulatory Law section.

Prior to joining Hinshaw, Spencer was a partner at Barger & Wolen LLP, a leading California insurance regulatory and litigation firm that merged with Hinshaw in 2014.
