Zeeshan (Zee) Iqbal represents financial services clients in mortgage lending, automobile finance, insurance defense, and creditors' rights. He excels in evaluating complex legal issues to create and execute detailed litigation strategies that resolve client problems efficiently. Thriving in innovative environments, Zee values being part of a creative team.

Zee leverages his competitive nature to prioritize achieving positive results for his clients while being mindful of the costs associated with legal matters. His enthusiasm and dedication to learning have led to numerous presentations on topics related to the financial services industry, including the Federal Credit Reporting Act, the California Rosenthal Act, and the mortgage servicing industry, as well as the litigation landscape in California. With experience in both private practice and government, Zee brings a unique perspective on litigation, emphasizing a comprehensive approach to proactively address potential issues.

His previous experience includes conducting fraud analyses, reviewing loan authorization agreements for the U.S. Small Business Administration, and advocating in the juvenile justice system in Zambia.
