Ronald L. Kammer Quoted in Miami Herald Article on International Companies Choosing Coral Gables as Headquarters

February 25, 2015

Ronald L. Kammer, the Partner-in-Charge of the Coral Gables office of the national law firm of Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP and Department Head of the firm's Specialty Litigation Department, was quoted in the article, "Charm, eateries – and location, location, location – lure companies to Coral Gables," published by the Miami Herald.

The article discusses the migration of company locations from Miami to Coral Gables. The popularity has been brought on by the increase in office space available, number of restaurants, proximity to the airport, as well as a shorter commute for area residents.

Kammer said the new location is much more convenient and attractive to clients, many of whom live or work in Coral Gables. "People just like coming here," he said.

Ronald Kammer focuses on the representation of insurers nationally. He has been involved in many significant third party coverage disputes including cases that interpreted an insurance company's duty to defend and indemnify, breach of policy conditions, claims involving bad faith and unfair and deceptive trade practices, as well as coverage obligations for construction defect, pollution, trademark and patent infringement claims.
