Mr. Figueroa-Matos is an accomplished trial and appellate lawyer with over a decade of experience representing private employers before state and federal courts in all aspects of labor and employment law. In addition, he represents clients in administrative proceedings before local and federal agencies such as the E.E.O.C., the N.L.R.B., the U.S. Department of Labor, the P.R. Department of Labor, and the Industrial Commission.

He focuses on providing strategic and practical advice, partnering with clients to obtain results which suit their business needs and goals—whether that is victory in court, swift and amicable resolution, or any other desired outcome in between. Mr. Figueroa-Matos’s multifaceted practice encompasses a broad spectrum of sectors within the national and global economy, including pharmaceutical, manufacturing, retailers, health care, law firms, entertainment, and service.

Besides his labor and employment litigation practice, Mr. Figueroa-Matos routinely counsels employers on a variety of day-to-day personnel matters and practices. Clients have a high regard for his responsiveness, as well as his concrete approach to problem solving. During the COVID-19 health emergency, he worked around the clock to provide unique insights and creative solutions to assist clients tackle the many complex challenges presented by the pandemic.

As a member of the Mergers & Acquisitions Practice Team, Mr. Figueroa-Matos provides legal counsel to clients during startups, acquisitions, mergers and closings of operations. He also assists clients with the preparation of employee handbooks and personnel policies, conducts employee training seminars.

Through the Firm’s Pro Bono Program, Mr. Figueroa-Matos also provides legal advice to, among others, El Centro Para Puerto Rico, a nonprofit charitable institution that boosts community self-management and promotes social and educational endeavors intended to reduce poverty and inequality, encourage the role of women in society, strengthen ethical values, support urban revitalization, and stimulate social responsibility. Mr. Figueroa-Matos also collaborated with the World Bank Group’s “Women, Business and the Law 2022” study.

In addition to his pro bono legal work, he frequently speaks on employment-related topics before clients and numerous business organizations, including the Society for Human Resources Management. Among the topics on which Mr. Figueroa-Matos has recently lectured are: remote work policies and protocols; best practices for managing telecommuting; medical marijuana; the use of social media in internal investigations; discipline of employees for conduct outside the workplace; sexual orientation and gender identity discrimination; and electronic communications in the workplace. Mr. Figueroa-Matos is frequently invited to speak about diversity, equity and inclusion in the workplace, and was a guest speaker in Medtronic LATAM’s Legal Department’s webinar “Everyone is Extraordinary”, which aimed to promote diversity and inclusion within law firms.

Before attending law school, he served as Trust Officer at Banco Santander, which at the time was one of the 100 largest trusts in the U.S., and the second largest in Puerto Rico. During his tenure at Banco Santander, he administered retirement plan trusts, personal trusts, corporate trusts, and Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs).
