An McV Employee Benefits Alert

January 25, 2022

On January 14, 2022, the Puerto Rico Treasury Department (“PR Treasury”) issued Internal Revenue Circular Letter No. 22-01 (“CL 22-01”) notifying the retirement plan limits that will apply to retirement plans qualified under Section 1081.01 of the Puerto Rico Internal Revenue Code of 2011, as amended (the “PR Code”), for the year 2022, including the cost-of living adjustments published by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) in IRS Notice 2021-61 of November 17, 2021.

The retirement plan limits applicable for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2022, are:

- The limitation on the annual benefit under a defined benefit plan under PR Code Section (a)(11)(A)(i) is increased from $230,000 to $245,000.
- The limitation on annual additions to a participant’s account under a defined contribution plan under PR Code Section 1081.01(a)(11)(B)(i) is increased from $58,000 to $61,000.
- The annual compensation limit under PR Section 1081.01(a)(12) is increased from $290,000 to $305,000.
- The compensation limit for a highly compensated employee under PR Code Section 1081.01(d)(3)(E)(iii) is increased from $130,000 to $135,000. As interpreted by PR Treasury in Internal Revenue Circular Letter No. 19-17, $130,000 is the dollar limitation that must be used when determining whether an employee is highly compensated for the taxable year beginning in 2022 (for 2023, $135,000 must be used).
- The elective deferral (contribution) limit under PR Code Section 1081.01(d)(7)(A):
  - Remains unchanged at $15,000 for a participant in a Puerto Rico-only qualified retirement plan; and
  - Is increased from $19,500 to $20,500 for a participant in a retirement plan sponsored by the U.S. Federal Government and for a participant in a dual-qualified plan (i.e., retirement plan qualified under both PR Code Section 1081.01(d) and Section 401(k) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “US Code”). Notwithstanding the foregoing, PR Code Section 1081.01(d)(7)(A)(iii) provides an annual elective deferral cap of $20,000 for participants in a dual qualified plan. Any amount contributed over the applicable maximum limit will be deemed taxable.

- The limit on catch-up contributions under PR Code Section 1081.01(d)(7)(C):
  - Remains unchanged at $1,500 for an individual aged 50 or over participating in a retirement plan -other than a plan sponsored by the U.S. Federal Government; and
  - Remains unchanged at $6,500 for an individual aged 50 or over participating in a retirement plan sponsored by the U.S. Federal Government.
- The limitation on voluntary employee after-tax contributions under PR Code Section 1081.01(a)(15) remains unchanged at 10% of the participant’s aggregate compensation for all the years of participation in the plan.
