Andrew J. Lorelli is an attorney in Plunkett Cooney's Business Law Department and a member of the firm's Trust & Estate Planning Practice Group. He focuses his practice primarily in the areas of estate planning, probate and trust litigation and trust and estate administration, including decedent estates, guardianships and conservatorships.

Mr. Lorelli has extensive legal experience in private practice, particularly in probate and estate planning. He has drafted estate plans, wills, trusts, powers of attorney and real estate deeds for a wide variety of clients, including high net worth individuals and families. Mr. Lorelli has also represented fiduciaries and interested persons in hundreds of probate proceedings. His practice includes the preparation of fiduciary accounts in trusts, decedent estates and conservatorships. In addition, Mr. Lorelli has handled contested and uncontested probate matters in dozens of counties all over the state of Michigan.

Prior to joining Plunkett Cooney, Mr. Lorelli served for four years on active duty as a Judge Advocate in the U.S. Marine Corps. He was stationed in Okinawa, Japan, where he worked as a Legal Assistance Officer, Company Commander, and deployed with the 31st Marine Expeditionary Unit. Mr. Lorelli, who is now in the Marine Corps Reserves, also previously worked in a two-star command Staff Judge Advocate's Office.
