Plunkett Cooney attorney Mark S. Kopson, who leads the Healthcare Industry Practice Group for Plunkett Cooney, one of the Midwest's oldest and largest law firms, will be among the featured speakers at the American Conference Institute's Second Advanced Forum on Managed Care Disputes and Litigation May 21 to 23 at the Loews Philadelphia Hotel in Philadelphia.

A partner in the firm's Bloomfield Hills office, Kopson will join a panel discussion, titled: "Managed Care Contracting 101 – Dissecting the Fundamentals for Litigation," which will explain the importance of managed care contracts and how to identify key provisions that may trigger or raise red flags during litigation. Panel members also will present plan and provider perspectives on frequently litigated issues, including medical necessity, termination and amendment and provide suggestions on how to minimize litigation risk.

Headquartered in New York, American Conference Institute (ACI) is an organization that operates as a think tank, monitoring trends and developments in all major industry sectors, the law, and public policy. Staffed by industry specialists, lawyers and other professionals, ACI provides conferences, summits and executive briefing, including lectures, workshops, panels, roundtables and case studies, for senior decision-makers who face business challenges in the United States and around the world.

A sought after speaker on healthcare-related issues, Kopson has practiced health care law for over 24 years with special emphasis on matters related to managed care, including negotiation and drafting of managed care contracts, payor-provider dispute resolution, provider reimbursement, and related compliance issues. He has extensive practical experience in the formation and counseling of physician and physician-hospital organizations, accountable care organizations, joint ventures and integrated delivery systems and in litigation and alternative dispute resolution, including both mediation and arbitration. Kopson also serves as a Dispute Resolver for the Alternative Dispute Resolution Service of the American Health Lawyers Association.
