Plunkett Cooney partner Matthew J. Boettcher was recently named to the 2025 Class of Go To Lawyers for Business Litigation as determined by Michigan Lawyers Weekly (MiLW).

Boettcher was featured in a special section of the July 28 print and digital issues of MiLW, a news publication covering the state's legal community. Michigan's Go To Lawyers is a nomination-based program that recognizes the top lawyers across the state in given areas of practice.

According to MiLW, the "Go To Lawyer" designation is awarded based on experience, expertise and track records of success. The review includes size and scope of litigation or transactional practices, high referral rates based on expertise and accomplishments, and creative problem solving that identifies all options for clients. Nominated lawyers are those whose colleagues would refer to a business associate, friend or use themselves in a particular field of expertise.

Since 2000, Boettcher has been a partner with Plunkett Cooney and is licensed to practice law in Michigan, Ohio and Illinois. He serves as a member of the firm's Board of Directors and as Leader of the Commercial Litigation Practice Group. Boettcher, who practices in the Bloomfield Hills office, represents clients in commercial litigation with extensive expertise in closely held business conflicts, real property disputes, banking conflicts, contract disputes, class action defense and business torts.

Established in 1913, Plunkett Cooney is a leading provider of business law and litigation services to clients in the private and public sectors. The firm employs attorneys in seven Michigan cities, and in Chicago, Illinois, Columbus, Ohio and Indianapolis, Indiana.

Plunkett Cooney has received the highest rating (AV) awarded by Martindale-Hubbell, a leading peer review service, as well as recognition by Best Lawyers as one of the nation's leading law firms. MiLW also recently named Plunkett Cooney among its Best Legacy Law Firms.
