BIOGRAPHY

Jacqueline A. Dansak is a member of the Corporate & Business practice group, where she delivers comprehensive legal services to support businesses at every stage of growth. Her practice focuses on contract law, including the thoughtful drafting and negotiation of a wide range of agreements to safeguard clients' interests and promote clarity in business relationships. She counsels entrepreneurs on company formation and structure, helping them choose and establish the right entity to meet their goals. Jacqueline also has significant experience guiding clients through mergers and acquisitions, from strategic planning and due diligence to closing. In addition, she advises on corporate governance matters, helping businesses stay compliant and aligned with best practices as they evolve. Jacqueline is also an adjunct at Temple Law School, where she teaches a course called "Lawyering for Entrepreneurship."
