BIOGRAPHY

Sophie Livingston is an associate in the firm's Corporate & Business and Intellectual Property Groups. She supports clients on a broad range of matters involving internet, eCommerce, and software transactions. Sophie's work focuses on licensing and technology agreements, commercial and business transactions, privacy and data security compliance, and intellectual property protection and strategy.

Before joining the firm, Sophie served as Legal Counsel at FICO, where she advised on software licensing, compliance, and commercial contract matters.

She also gained experience as a law clerk in the subrogation department of a California litigation firm and as a legal intern at a Montana law firm, where she supported civil litigation and trial preparation.

Sophie is recognized for her practical, business-minded approach and commitment to assisting clients in navigating complex legal and regulatory issues at the intersection of technology and business.
