

→ Asset Based Lending

Our Asset Based Lending (ABL) practice is composed of a significant number of attorneys who specialize in the documentation, negotiation and structuring of syndicated and single lender asset based financing transactions. Our clients in this area consist of a wide array of leading domestic and international financial institutions, including banks, commercial finance companies and insurance and leasing companies, as well as equity sponsors and borrowers.

Our ABL group has experience in all aspects of asset based lending, including revolving credit facilities based on the value of accounts receivable, service contracts and inventory, factoring transactions, capital expenditure lines of credit and associated terms loans based on the value of equipment, intellectual property, enterprise value and other tangible and intangible assets. Our attorneys have particular expertise in complex capital structures, including first/second lien transactions, multicurrency components, subordinated and pari passu high yield debt and tranche B facilities, and specific associated areas such as debtor-in-possession and exit financings, trade financings, bond components, intercreditor issues, letters of credit and cash management. This experience includes transactions across a broad array of industries and in a variety of jurisdictions, worldwide.

With a focus on experience, organization and the efficient use of technology, we are able to consistently provide not only superior legal counsel, but also cost-effective service to our clients in all ABL matters. It is our belief that the use of a select cadre of attorneys experienced in various aspects of financial transactions work, coupled with the matching of that experience with particular matters, is the best way to provide excellence at a competitive cost. The attorneys in the ABL practice have not only a working knowledge of secured financing transactions, but also an understanding of real property transactions, as well as bankruptcy and litigation concepts and procedures as they pertain to these matters.
