Lorna Gilmore is an associate in the Labor and Employment Practice Group in the firm's San Francisco office.

Areas of Practice

Lorna represents employers in all areas of labor and employment. Her practice includes representing employers in all aspects of employment-related matters in state and federal courts, including defending employers against claims of discrimination, harassment, retaliation, wrongful termination, and wage and hour disputes. Lorna also counsels employers on a wide range of employment issues, such as employee handbooks, leaves of absence, employee classification, and employment law compliance.
