

Information Governance and eDiscovery Summit

Sydney, Australia
06.2016

The Chilli IQ Information Governance and eDiscovery Summit has now reached its tenth year and for a conference that has trailblazed the topics of eDiscovery, analytics, forensics and i-governance to an Australian & NZ audience, 2016 is a landmark event. Providing a platform for Judges, regulators and industry experts to deliver the most current news, ideas and updates for the delegates, we are proud to have reached such a milestone and to have seen and introduced firsthand the developments and progress of leading solution providers and noted speakers.

Technology has constantly moved at an alarming rate and keeping up to date, especially in the area of governance and discovery is always paramount. The event has always encompassed change and therefore the 2016 agenda will include new areas and streams to highlight the dominate topics relevant today. These include: BigData, Security & Privacy, Regulatory and Analytics. The 10th Information Governance & eDiscovery Summit will therefore deliver the essential knowledge and tools necessary to keep informed and to succeed in this evolving legal landscape.

The event programme is coordinated through the diligent direction of the Advisory Panel: three leading legal technology professionals. Expert panel sessions, key national and international speakers and the latest technology updates ensure you access information on the changing paradigm of electronic discovery, regulatory changes and the practical implications for your company. It is also a valuable opportunity to network with peers and meet Australia's leading technology companies driving the future.
