Virtual Reality (VR) and Augmented Reality (AR) are revolutionizing the way fans interact with their favorite sports teams and events. VR can be used to provide fans with a fully immersive, 360-degree view of the action, allowing them to feel like they are actually in the stadium or arena. AR, on the other hand, can be used to provide fans with additional information about the game or the players, such as stats or highlights, in real-time.

This panel will discuss how VR/AR can be used to create new revenue streams and new marketing and sponsorship opportunities in sports, as well as the key legal considerations that must be taken into account.
