

North American Carbon World Program

California Legislative Action and Carbon Markets

03.26.2025 | 1:30-2:30 PM

Event Sponsor: North American Carbon World

Recent and impending legislative actions in California continue to demonstrate that California remains on the cutting edge for climate action. Whether one views recent developments positively or negatively, ongoing debates on many fronts have rekindled interest in Sacramento's agenda and ignited debates about whether proposals help or hinder climate action. This session will provide an up-to-date assessment of where legislative action may be going, including requirements for disclosing climate risks, potential changes to California's Cap-and-Trade program, and impacts on the voluntary carbon market.
