Please join us for an exciting and interactive “All Things Crypto” panel discussion, including Sheppard Mullin’s Chris Bosch, covering:

1. The basics of cryptoassets, what they are, how they compare to “real” assets, and why they are so hard to wrap our heads around;
2. How fraudsters have used crypto as a vehicle to cheat both the naïve and sophisticated over the past few years;
3. Important developments in the rapidly evolving world of federal and state regulation of crypto under the second Trump Administration.

This is a unique and convenient way to acquire a solid introduction to cryptoassets and learn how recent legal developments relating to their adoption and regulation are impacting their place in our economy and world. Register now to secure your spot and join us for what promises to be an entertaining and enlightening evening.
