

July Meeting of the Labor & Employment Section

Pasadena Bar Association

Noor Pasadena

Please join us for the July meeting of the Labor & Employment Section

The long-awaited Brinker case was decided in April by the California Supreme Court. Is it really the "victory for employers" that some in the media proclaimed? Or does it raise as many questions as it answers?

A distinguished panel of labor and employment lawyers will discuss the state of wage/hour law in California, including:

- Brinker's impact on wage/hour class action litigation
- Employer meal and rest period obligations
- Resolution of wage/hour disputes

About the Panelists

Steve Pearl is a full-time neutral with 18 years' experience in wage-hour law. His blog is considered a must-read for California practitioners.

Randy Renick is a partner of the Pasadena firm Hadsell Stormer Keeny Richardson & Renick. Randy specializes in class action litigation, having successfully prosecuted dozens of multi-million dollar wage/hour class action cases.

Tom Kaufman is a partner of Sheppard Mullin. Tom is a leading management-side attorney who has achieved numerous successful jury verdicts and defended many wage/hour class actions.

The panel will be moderated by Jack Schaedel, a founding partner of Hernandez, Schaedel & Associates, an elite litigation firm in Pasadena. Jack is the chairman and founder of the Labor & Employment Law section of the Pasadena Bar Association.
