

Partner Jerry Neuman Recognized at the Kennedy Center for Battling Homelessness

07.2011

In July, partner Jerry Neuman was honored by The National Alliance to End Homelessness at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. for his efforts to battle homelessness. Jerry and his organization, Home for Good, were honored as the person and organization from the private sector who have done more than anyone in the nation to address homelessness. This is the first time someone from Los Angeles has received this recognition.