Sheppard Mullin's Dallas office has once again been named a "Best Places to Work" by the Dallas Business Journal.

The Dallas Business Journal surveyed companies by asking an array of anonymous multiple-choice questions to help understand what's driving growth in the organization, and what factors establish it as a top workplace. Winners met or beat a national best practice score for their category, as determined by Quantum Workplace, which administered more than 1.2 million employee surveys nationwide this year. The honorees were divided into five categories by size. Rankings among the five categories will be revealed on October 14 as part of a live virtual event.
