

Cybersecurity & Privacy Predictions For 2019

Law360

01.01.2019

Privacy and Cybersecurity practice group leader Liisa Thomas discusses data security and ransomware saying, "Companies are saying that gathering more data can help them be more sophisticated and streamlined and better understand their customers. But on the flip side, the bad actors are also thinking that the more data that they have, the better they can launch bigger and badder attacks against companies."
