With a focus on real estate, construction, general commercial, contract, corporate and fiduciary matters, Barry works with clients at every phase of business planning and litigation.

Barry assists individuals and businesses at multiple levels in business planning, risk management and problem solving, and serves as outside general counsel for many of his clients. He has significant state and federal trial, appellate, mediation and arbitration experience involving commercial and corporate litigation, real estate, construction, fiduciary, probate and trust, and fraud litigation. Barry also works with clients at a transactional level on complex contract drafting, real estate and development projects, deal negotiations, insurance coverage and recovery matters, and lien and bond claims.

Barry's role as a trusted advisor stems from his longstanding client relationships and commitment to understanding each of his client's business models, cultures and unique needs, coupled with the desire to create a true partnership in the pursuit of his clients' goals. Barry's service as outside counsel spans real estate, development, M&A, joint ventures, intellectual property, private and public financing, employment matters, organizational restructuring, long-term succession planning, insurance coverage, risk management and dispute resolution. Barry enjoys acting as a connector on behalf of his clients, ensuring that no
