Direct: 612.335.1967

Office: Minneapolis

Dan's extensive government experience helps clients succeed in today's highly regulated environment.

With over 15 years of experience in government relations, Dan is an experienced strategist with a deep understanding of the government and legislative processes. He has a proven track record of success guiding clients through the complex world of government regulations and policies.

In addition to other subject areas, Dan represents clients on environmental policy matters at the Minnesota Capitol, including policy relating to PFAS, air and water pollution mitigation, and other environmental permitting issues.

Prior to joining Stinson, Dan was Director of Health Policy and Political Director at the Minnesota Business Partnership where he lobbied on behalf of association members and managed the Health Policy Committee. He has also held various positions in the Minnesota state legislature, including Legislative Director to the Majority Leader of the Minnesota Senate, where he led legislative operations and advised the Majority Leader on key issues.

Dan is not a licensed attorney.
