James has assisted in obtaining favorable litigation results for commercial clients across a wide range of industries. Whether he is preparing demand letters, complex motions or appeal briefs, James's writing skills make him a dependable advocate for his clients.

James's practice primarily focuses on civil and commercial litigation. He represents clients ranging from local businesses to national publicly-traded corporations, and has litigated a broad variety of cases including but not limited to commercial contract disputes, products liability/personal injury, construction defects, real property title disputes, and securities fraud.

James also has extensive experience as an advocate and counselor for employers of all sizes in litigation and compliance matters. Within the litigation sphere, James regularly takes the lead on cases including employment discrimination, trade secret misappropriation, enforcement of non-compete agreements, and employee benefit adjudications before administrative agencies. James also navigates employers through U.S. Department of Labor and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement audits, internal investigations, Form I-9 compliance reviews, compliance with federal labor laws such as the Fair Labor Standards Act, Immigration and Nationality Act, WARN Act, and more.
