Office: St. Louis

Jenna has a track record of success when it comes to solving legal challenges as she advises her clients through a diverse array of complex business transactions.

Jenna focuses her practice on sophisticated M&A, finance, and commercial transactions. Jenna takes a practical but thorough approach in negotiating and completing deals, and her clients trust her to execute on their business and legal objectives.

Jenna has extensive experience advising clients in acquisitions and divestitures, with varying structures and across multiple industries. She advises clients with a goal of expanding their platforms and offerings on strategic acquisitions, as well as clients looking to focus their operations on exits and divestitures, including carveout transactions. In addition, Jenna counsels a number of clients on strategic joint ventures and partnerships, as well as privately-held business in an outside general counsel role on general corporate and succession planning matters.

Jenna also regularly represents financial institutions, including Farm Credit System lenders, commercial banks and leasing companies, as well as borrowers on all types of financings, including asset-based, working capital, construction and real estate loans and equipment and facility lease transactions.
