Direct: 612.335.1573

Office: Minneapolis

Clients turn to Lowell for advice in connection with substantial construction projects and disputes. He also consults broadly in the nonprofit sector.

For more than four decades, Lowell has been representing clients in the construction industry including national, regional and local owners, contractors and design professionals with operations across the United States and Canada. He also provides strategic counsel to his clients' CEOs and boards of directors.

Recognized for his experience in alternative dispute resolution, Lowell has written and spoken extensively on construction law issues and served as a member of the board of directors of the Associated General Contractors of Minnesota. He also consults regularly with major nonprofit organizations, advising them on matters of governance. Lowell also serves as Senior Firm Counsel for Stinson.

EXPERIENCE

Lowell has played an integral role in a number of major construction projects, including the Mall of America, Regions Hospital expansion, Denver International Airport Terminal and the Consolidated Car Rental Facility at the Las Vegas Airport.
