Office: Minneapolis

Renée has her finger on the pulse of the complex, highly competitive field of corporate immigration. She is known for her savvy in guiding employers in recruiting and hiring, defending I-9 raids and audits, and establishing compliance programs clients can trust and rely upon.

Renée helps employers build a 21st century workforce and hire talent by assisting them with obtaining work visas and permanent residence for their key foreign national employees. She advises on immigration issues in mergers and acquisitions, assists with the full range of compliance, and provides policies and training for her clients, including how to respond to ICE raids, inquiries and audits. She has specific experience addressing temporary labor shortages by representing clients in connection with their H-2B visa needs.

Renée works with U.S. and multinational clients, including IT and engineering companies, health care organizations, architectural firms, insurance companies, colleges and universities and nonprofits. She is fluent in Spanish, has prior experience serving as a clerk for a judicial court judge, and interned with U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, then Madeleine K. Albright, researching issues pertaining to the investigation and prosecution of war crimes. She is a frequent writer and speaker, most recently on alternatives to the H-1B program.

EXPERIENCE

Renée assists clients with nonimmigrant visas and permanent residence filings through the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services and the Department of Labor.

She helps employers obtain EB-1 status for managers and executives, those of extraordinary ability and those qualifying as outstanding researchers, as well as national interest waivers.

Renée helps clients with Form I-9 and E-Verify compliance, conducts self-audits and represents clients in ICE raids and audits.

A volunteer attorney with Minnesota Advocates for Human Rights, Renée also has experience with individual immigration and asylum cases, and handles a number of them pro bono, including Special Immigrant Juvenile Status, Family Reunification and U visas.
