

Are you ready for the new federal cybersecurity and supply chain requirements?

Webinar

04.21.2021 | 10 -11 a.m. CT

You only have to peruse today's headlines to know that supply chain security is increasingly important. For those who provide construction services to the government, many of the emerging threats, new laws, and regulations will directly impact the materials and equipment that can go onto the construction site and how the work is performed.

Join us as we discuss key emerging threats and three important laws and regulations that will directly affect government contractors and their supply chains:

- Requirements and implications of NDAA FY 2019, Section 889 (the "Huawei Ban")
- DFARS Basic Assessment requirements
- The status of the Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC) roll out
