

"This is Protected, Right?" Attorney-Client Privilege and the Work Product Doctrine in Corporate Communications

Webinar

08.11.2020 | 11:45 a.m. - 1 p.m. CDT

As the scope of electronic discovery broadens, more and more communications within a company are subject to collection and production in litigation and elsewhere. This makes it essential for employees both inside and outside the legal department to have a basic understanding of how these essential privileges work and what pitfalls to avoid.

Join Stinson attorneys Jada Lewis and Zach Hemenway for an informative webinar addressing these topics. They will first discuss the basics of attorney-client privilege and the work-product doctrine, and then provide real-world examples and practical advice to ensure these privileges are preserved.

Please register to attend this webinar.

CONTACT

Zachary H. Hemenway

RELATED CAPABILITIES

Banking & Financial Services