

Earthquakes, Blizzards and Floods, Oh My! What Suppliers Need To Know About Force Majeure and Extreme Weather Events

Webinar

06.15.2021 | 10 - 11 a.m. CT

In the last year alone, the United States has faced hurricanes in the South, derechos in the Midwest, and a polar vortex across the country. Extreme weather events can have a ripple effect that makes it difficult or impossible for suppliers to meet their contractual obligations.

During this 60-minute webinar, we will discuss:

- The doctrines of Force Majeure and impracticability and how they relate to extreme weather events.
- What you should do if an extreme weather event makes it difficult for you to fulfill your contracts.
- What you can do now to reduce your risk in connection with extreme weather events.

Register to attend this webinar.

CONTACTS

Robert C. Hunter

Sharon R. Markowitz

RELATED CAPABILITIES

Business Litigation