

Navigating OSHA's Updated COVID-19 Guidance and Emergency Temporary Standard

Webinar

06.17.2021 | Noon - 1 p.m. CT

On June 10, OSHA announced two significant actions in its COVID-19 response: an Emergency Temporary Standard (ETS) for healthcare facilities and updated COVID-19 safe workplace guidance for non-healthcare employers. Both actions constituted a significant evolution of OSHA's position on fully vaccinated employees.

While employers are generally happy for an update consistent with CDC recommendations, there is significant nuance to the guidance and fast-turnaround deadlines in the ETS with which employers must contend. In addition, employers are facing a patchwork of pending and enacted state legislation, along with the practicalities of implementing COVID-19 protocols consistent with the updated guidance and standards.

Join Stinson LLP's "Navigating OSHA's Updated Guidance and Emergency Temporary Standard" on Thursday, June 17 to discuss the action as well as understand the biggest potential areas that may trip-up employers, and practical tips for implementing (or revising) your existing COVID-19 protocols.
