

Denver's Mile High Magazine Recognizes Bayles, Botts as Top Attorneys

Press Release

01.04.2024

Stinson LLP Partners Deborah Bayles and Robert Botts, Jr., are recognized on the 5280 Denver's Top Lawyers 2024 list featuring the top attorneys in the Denver metro area and beyond. Both are recognized in the banking category.

Denver's Top Lawyers list is based on in-depth interviews and reporting from the publication, in addition to peer-reviewed surveys, to compile the list of whom the publication believes to be the most skilled attorneys in the Rocky Mountain region. Attorneys are recognized in 50 different legal specialty areas based on input from the Colorado Bar Association, attorneys and area law firms.

Bayles advises clients on the full range of financial, real estate and business transactions. Her extensive experience with real estate finance and general business operations enable her to provide effective counsel to her clients, which include lenders, buyers and sellers, commercial real estate owners and developers and private business entities. Bayles also serves as the firm's Denver office managing partner.

Botts is a trusted business advisor to commercial lending and financial institutions, privately-held businesses, and mining and energy companies. He routinely acts as outside general counsel for his clients, providing objective, independent counsel and access to a full range of legal services to meet their needs. Botts also provides representation to clients in the electric utilities sector, advising on a variety of transactional matters.
