

Securities and Financial Services Litigator Richard J.L. Lomuscio Joins Stinson in New York

Press Release

04.08.2024

Stinson LLP is pleased to welcome Richard J.L. Lomuscio to the firm's New York office. Lomuscio joins as a partner in the firm's Financial Services & Class Action Practice Division.

Lomuscio is the seventh attorney to join the firm's New York office in the past year. To address the increasing demand for attorneys focused on financial litigation, the firm is strategically enhancing its Financial Services & Class Action practice through the addition of Lomuscio.

Lomuscio has over 20 years of experience handling complex financial litigation. He specializes in commercial and regulatory disputes concerning securities, intricate financial instruments, mortgage securitizations, cryptocurrency, fund formation and corporate governance matters. He leverages his extensive experience representing technology, insurance, financial services and FinTech companies to provide clients with tailored proactive compliance counsel and strategic defense.

"I'm excited to join Stinson and to further my experience navigating complex securities matters while achieving the best outcomes for our clients," Lomuscio said. "The firm's commitment to delivering exceptional client service impressed me, and I'm confident that together, we can continue to provide unmatched value to our clients and the legal industry."

Prior to joining Stinson, Lomuscio served as co-chair of the securities and financial services litigation practice of a full-service, mid-size New York City-based law firm. He also served in senior legal roles at leading global financial services firms, giving him a unique perspective when anticipating challenges and crafting innovative solutions for his clients.
