

Stinson's Dallas Office Moves to New Downtown Space

Press Release

08.01.2022

Stinson LLP is pleased to announce that it has moved its Dallas office to a new downtown location at 2200 Ross Avenue, Suite 2900, Dallas, TX, 75201, effective August 1, 2022. The space provides a modern, updated office that mirrors Stinson's values, allows for growth, and provides greater efficiencies and flexibility for the more than 25 attorneys and staff in the Dallas office. The move will see Stinson leave its current suite in The Centrum, a space it has occupied since November 2001.

"Moving the Dallas office is important for the firm," said Paul Lackey, Dallas office managing partner. "This new office puts us right where we need to be. It offers greater flexibility for collaboration and growth, and is a more modern location for our attorneys and staff."

Stinson partnered with Northmarq Capital, Fortis and Stream Realty to lease the 16,732 square-foot space for 12-years. The office incorporates stunning views of the Dallas area and a modern aesthetic that aligns with Stinson's standard of success. The central location in downtown Dallas represents the firm's growing influence in the city and commitment to its clients' needs.

"The Dallas office is an integral part of the firm," said Stinson Managing Partner Allison Murdock. "This move enables us to be centrally located to our clients and positions us for growth in a competitive market. It also is an opportunity to further cement ourselves into the Dallas business community."

Attorneys in the Dallas office are experienced in business and securities litigation, real estate and public finance, corporate finance, M&A, oil and gas, and labor, employment and benefits litigation. To learn more, visit www.stinson.com/locations-dallas.
