Chris is a paralegal in the Vorys Columbus office. He assists the attorneys in managing the claims of several of the firm's largest workers' compensation accounts, and is a member of the 3M National Mass Tort Data Management Team. Chris has a thorough knowledge of all aspects of the processing of claims through the Bureau of Workers' Compensation and the Industrial Commission. He also assists in the trial preparation and during the trial of workers' compensation cases. Chris is certified by the Ohio Secretary of State to perform on-line document notarizations.

In addition, Chris works with attorneys in the firm's real property tax group.

Chris has assisted in the teaching of workers' compensation fundamentals to students in the Capital Law School Paralegal Program.

Chris became a registered paralegal in 1997 after passing the Paralegal Advanced Competency Examination offered by the National Federation of Paralegal Associations.
