5.1.2018

On May 1, 2018, Vorys Partner Natalie McLaughlin and Marketing and Communications Manager Jen House led a training on crisis preparation and response for members of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Ohio. This half day workshop, held at Capital University, provided attendees with practical and useful tips to consider as they prepare and deal with a vast array of potential crises on campus. The workshop specifically addressed:

- crises of violence both with employees and on campus
- crises stemming from harassment
- crisis communications
- examining higher education crises case studies for key learning
