Nici Workman, a partner in the Columbus office, will moderate a panel at the Dealmakers Conference on September 13. The panel is titled "Financing Strategies to Achieve Growth Goals" and will discuss leveraging debt to fuel growth.

The panelists include, the CFO of a prominent retailer, the chairman and CEO of a thriving logistics company, and a bank market executive. They will explore insights into how companies prepare for, and work with partners to, successfully execute acquisitions and support growth, including how these strategies may be impacted by current macroeconomic conditions.
