Vorys is pleased to announce that the firm has landed at the top of Unicourt's TrueLaw Litigation index. The TrueLaw Litigation Index highlights the top 200 law firms for civil litigation across all federal U.S. District Courts. To produce the insights in this report, UniCourt downloads the data for every new civil case filed in U.S. District Court from PACER, and uses artificial intelligence and automation technologies to organize, clean, and structure the data to determine the law firms involved in litigation.

This year, the second year the index ranking civil litigation firms have been released, Vorys ranked at the top of the list. Last year, Vorys was ranked in the top 10 law firms in the country for civil litigation.

The Vorys litigation group is the largest group at the firm with nearly 100 attorneys. The litigation practice spans the nation and the firm's litigators represent clients in every imaginable kind of dispute, whether it involves allegations of civil or criminal liability, whether it concerns business issues, personal injuries, claimed violation of statutes, or professional malpractice, or whether it is to be resolved in a trial court, on appeal, or through arbitration, mediation, or some other form of alternative dispute resolution.
